Most items at your favorite supermarket, discount store or shopping mall were safely delivered in boxes made of corrugated cardboard, and many are displayed in the same boxes, which were manufactured so they could be opened and used for this purpose. Corrugated cardboard is a stiff, strong, and light-weight material made up of three/five/ seven layers of brown Kraft paper. No other packaging material offers the benefits of corrugated boxes. It maximizes protection while being space efficient; it is outstandingly versatile and has a fast design-to-delivery turn around. Add to this the economic benefits arising from increased production efficiency in the industry, and you can see why corrugated packaging is hard to beat.

Above all the industry listens whether you need to improve or find more economic ways to distribute and store products; the corrugated packaging industry continues to discover new and surprising answers. These are the key reasons why corrugated packaging is so popular. Wherever it can be used, it usually is more than two thirds of the world's retailed commodities are packed and transported in it - more than all other types of packaging put together.
